BIBLE READINGS

Psalm 98

¹O sing to the LORD a new song, for he has done marvellous things. His right hand and his holy arm have gained him victory.

²The LORD has made known his victory; he has revealed his vindication in the sight of the nations.

³He has remembered his steadfast love and faithfulness to the house of Israel. All the ends of the earth have seen the victory of our God.

⁴Make a joyful noise to the LORD, all the earth; break forth into joyous song and sing praises.

⁵Sing praises to the LORD with the lyre, with the lyre and the sound of melody.

⁶With trumpets and the sound of the horn make a joyful noise before the King, the LORD.

⁷Let the sea roar, and all that fills it; the world and those who live in it.

⁸Let the floods clap their hands; let the hills sing together for joy

⁹at the presence of the LORD, for he is coming to judge the earth. He will judge the world with righteousness, and the peoples with equity.

Luke 21.5-19

The Destruction of the Temple Foretold

⁵When some were speaking about the temple, how it was adorned with beautiful stones and gifts dedicated to God, he said, ⁶'As for these things that you see, the days will come when not one stone will be left upon another; all will be thrown down.'

Signs and Persecutions

⁷They asked him, 'Teacher, when will this be, and what will be the sign that this is about to take place?' ⁸And he said, 'Beware that you are not led astray; for many will come in my name and say, "I am he!" and, "The time is near!" Do not go after them.

⁹'When you hear of wars and insurrections, do not be terrified; for these things must take place first, but the end will not follow immediately.' ¹⁰Then he said to them, 'Nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom; ¹¹there will be great earthquakes, and in various places famines and plagues; and there will be dreadful portents and great signs from heaven.

¹²'But before all this occurs, they will arrest you and persecute you; they will hand you over to synagogues and prisons, and you will be brought before kings and governors because of my name. ¹³This will give you an opportunity to testify. ¹⁴So make up your minds not to prepare your defence in advance; ¹⁵for I will give you words and a wisdom that none of your opponents will be able to withstand or contradict. ¹⁶You will be betrayed even by parents and brothers, by relatives and friends; and they will put some of you to death. ¹⁷You will be hated by all because of my name. ¹⁸But not a hair of your head will perish. ¹⁹By your endurance you will gain your souls.

REFLECTION FROM THE RECTORY

November, often characterized by its crisp air, fading light, and the shedding of autumn leaves, is a time nestled between the exuberance of summer and the anticipation of Advent, providing a quiet space to focus on gratitude and eternal hope. The fading beauty of the landscape can also remind us that God's plan is at work even in times of seeming decline or stillness. The earth rests in preparation for new life in the spring, just as we are called to rest in God's sovereignty during quiet or challenging seasons. November prepares our hearts by calling us to cultivate a thankful heart, looking back with gratitude for the past year's blessings, and looking forward with renewed hope toward the coming of Christ celebrated in Advent. For us, as followers of Jesus it is a moment to simply acknowledge: "All is well with my soul." As the weather turns colder, November also invites us to remember the poor, the lonely, and the vulnerable. Our gratitude to God should flow outward into acts of generosity and service, reflecting the sacrificial love of Jesus himself.

Prayer
Creator God we lift our hearts in gratitude for the rich, vibrant tapestry of Autumn. We thank you for the subtle shift in the air, the deepening colours that remind us of nature's endless cycle of letting go and renewal. May the crisp air invigorate our spirits, the golden light warm our souls, and the changing landscape inspire us to find colour and beauty in every phase of our lives.
